AMBASSADOR JONES VISIT AND TALK AT PUSTAKA NEGERI SARAWAK

by Edison Ricket (edisonr@sarawaknet.gov.my)

Ambassador Paul W. Jones delivering his talk on U.S. partnership with Malaysia and Sarawak at Lincoln Corner, Sarawak State Library, Kuching, February 17, 2011.

It's a cyber world but...books, they're here to stay.

U.S. Ambassador Paul Jones at Lincoln Corner Sarawak, signing the Guest Book, watched by Pustaka's ACEO Japri Bujang and other library professionals.

A token of appreciation - Encik Japri Bujang Masli (Pustaka's ACEO) received a memento from Ambassador Jones.

The audience during Ambassador Jones talk at Sarawak State Library.

On February 17th, Ambassador Jones spoke before an audience of over 155 people comprising of students, business people, Sarawak state officials, NGO reps and journalists at the Sarawak State Library. The talk was also broadcast live virtually via WEBINAR at <http://webinar.u-library.gov.my/pustaka170211/>, enabling people across Malaysia to attend the talk presentation "virtually". His talk focused on the United States' partnership with Malaysia and Sarawak.

In his remarks, the Ambassador discussed various issues such as economic ties between Malaysia and the United States, recent changes in our political relationship, and the friendship between Americans and the people of Sarawak and its rich history. The Ambassador also discussed new and existing initiatives afoot in US-Malaysia relations, including English teaching, environmental and scientific cooperation, and our shared commitment towards preserving Sarawak's biodiversity and cultural heritage for future generations.

During a Q&A session, he answered a wide range of questions from the audience, ranging from issues concerning Sarawak on the environmental impacts of development. In his responses, the Ambassador mentioned the experience of many local communities in the United States, where decisions over their future in terms of energy and urban development are major issues in the public debate.

The event ended much to the disappointment of the audience who felt that, given more time, they would have asked more questions. The 155 guests were later treated to high-tea amidst the beautiful surroundings of the Sarawak State Library. Ambassador Jones then toured the Lincoln Corner which accompanied by Encik Japri Bujang Masli. Ambassador Jones was given a guided tour of the extensive Americana collection at the Corner, a key attraction of the library, and was also given a briefing on its very successful operations, programs and outreach services. This was Ambassador Jones' maiden trip to Sarawak.

MESSAGE FROM

by Edison Ricket (edisonr@sarawaknet.gov.my)

Lincoln Corner Librarian describing the moral of the story to the children

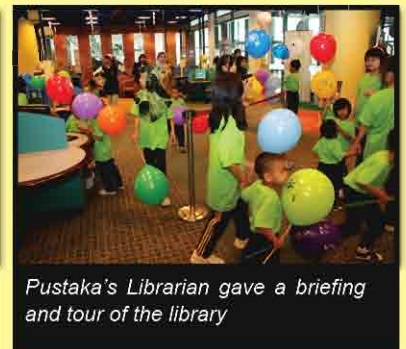

On January 22, 2011 the Lincoln Corner librarian read from "Martin's Big Words: The Life of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr" to a crowd of 35 young children. The story telling was conducted in conjunction with Martin Luther King's day, which fall on 17 January 2011. The young audience was enchanted by Doreen Rappaport's story and illustrator Bryan Collier's colorful pictures and words . Young children learned a valuable lesson about civil rights from this interesting, favorite children's book. The story telling session relates the life story of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. in simple words and luminous pictures. It also introduces children to Dr. King's teachings about non-violence. Throughout the story telling session, key words from Dr. King's teachings appear as part of the art. At the beginning of the story, it mentioned that young Martin read a "White Only" sign in his home town. Martin grew up, became a preacher and studied the writing of Mahatma Gandhi. He put his ideas into practice at the Montgomery bus boycott and other civil rights demonstrations. He spoke to a nation-wide audience, where more and more people listen to him.

The program ended with some of the "big words" for which Dr. King is remembered: peace, love, freedom, together and dream.

On 11 February 2011, 35 students and teachers from Taska Rumah Kanak-Kanak Kuching visited Pustaka Negeri Sarawak. A librarian gave them a brief presentation on children activities, collections and services. In addition to this, a guided tour of the library and briefing on American Presidents via exhibition was also included in the visit.

SARAWAKIANA TALK: KNOWLEDGE MANAGEMENT APPROACH FOR THE PRESERVATION & CONSERVATION OF SARAWAK'S TRADITIONAL KNOWLEDGE

by Norlailawaty Bt. Ismail (norlail2@sarawaknet.gov.my)

Participants at the talk

Q&A session with the speaker

On February 23, 2011 Puan Rashidah Hj Bohassan, PhD student from Victoria University of Wellington gave a two-hour Sarawakiana talk on the preservation and conservation of Sarawak's traditional knowledge at Special Collections Room.

She talked in detailed about the indigenous peoples of Sarawak, some of their secrets and sacred aspects of their traditional cultural expressions that are considered appropriate for public's knowledge. The indigenous knowledge embedded in the rituals and practices require the interpretations on the processes itself to become explicit knowledge.

Puan Rashidah's presentation aimed to share with the audience, some of the knowledge management practices of indigenous people, particularly their knowledge sharing processes. The talk also touch on how modern knowledge management can be applied in the preservation and conservation of the secret and sacred indigenous knowledge content of traditional cultural expressions (TCEs).

The Sarawakiana talk for year 2011 are held on a quarterly basis, covering subjects on Sarawak's culture.

COMMUNITY INFORMATION LITERACY SKILLS (ILS) PROGRAM A SUCCESS

by Sofina Tan (sofina@sarawaknet.gov.my)

MIRI ... Pustaka Miri, in collaboration with the Women Movement Council of Parti Pesaka Bumiputera Bersatu (Majlis Pergerakan Wanita PBB) Telang Usan, has successfully conducted and completed the Community Information Literacy Skills (ILS) Program.

The program, which was conducted in two (2) separate sessions on 25-26 February and 11-12 March 2011, was attended by fifty (50) participants. The participants consisted of those from the urban, suburban and rural areas around Miri. Most of them are housewives and those working from home.

The objective of the program was to enhance the information literacy skills, in this case particularly amongst womenfolk, as to encourage them to learn ways to communicate and reach out via information and communications technology (ICT).

Pustaka's professional and experienced librarians facilitated the program which included skills needed to efficiently and effectively access information through libraries as well as the Internet. They were given exposure on social networking using applications such as email and Facebook, which they can use to promote their home businesses, keep in touch with family and friends, sharing common interests; and keeping up with the fast-changing world.

All participants graduated from the program received their certificates of attendance during the ILS Mini Convocation held at a leading hotel here on 12th March 2011 and Telang Usan's State Assemblyman YB Lihan Jok was represented by PBB Telang Usan Youth Chief Cr. Dennis Ngau to present the certificates.

The ceremony was also witnessed by Acting Chief Executive Officer Japri Haji Bujang Masli, Pustaka Miri's Regional Manager Salina Haji Zawawi and Head of PBB Telang Usan's Women Movement Council Elizabeth Deng.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE...Crowd throngs the Customers' Day counter to register

MIRI ... Pustaka Miri is continuing its effort in reaching out to the community with more lifelong learning and knowledge-sharing activities this year.

On Saturday, 29th January 2011, those who shopped at eMart Miri were able to register or renew their membership on-the-spot as Pustaka had its first Customers' Day (Hari Bersama Pelanggan) for the year 2011.

A team of friendly library staff was at hand from 9:00am to 5:00pm to introduce and promote membership categories as well as the services and facilities available at Pustaka Miri.

Nearly 60 members registered and renewed their memberships, which give them the benefits including lending of books up to six (6) titles at any one time for the duration of two (2) weeks, free internet access at the library including WiFi service and priority in activities organized by Pustaka.

The memberships are divided into several categories namely children (aged 4 – 12 years old), students, adults, senior citizens, corporate, life and traveller.

The library also promoted the Sarawakiana Series sets during the event. Those who registered, gave feedbacks and participated in games and quiz on that day were given tokens of appreciation.

CUP CAKE MAKING WORKSHOP A CROWD-PULLER

by Sofina Tan (sofina@sarawaknet.gov.my)

MIRI ... Pustaka Miri continues with its effort in reaching out to the community with more lifelong learning and knowledge-sharing activities.

A mini workshop on 'How To Make Icing Cupcakes' (Bengkel Kuih Cawan Bergula Aising) was held on 26 February 2011. The library invited a home cupcake entrepreneur from Bintulu to conduct the workshop from 9:00am to 1:00pm.

Khairinna Senusi, who has years of experience in making adorable-looking cupcakes for various occasions including weddings and birthdays, shared tips and skills on how to make cupcakes as well as the colorful icing toppings.

More than 60 participants came to the workshop which included demonstration to decorate the freshly baked cupcakes and they were given the chance to show off their creativity to do so as well.

Participants can use the knowledge learnt to start their own cupcake business from home or just as a hobby and make cupcakes for family and friends.
